Police watch local banks

Police forces throughout Haliburton and Muskoka were placed on alert Monday in anticipation of a possible bank robbery.

Residents of Minden, Haliburton Village, Dorset and Wilberforce in this county were well aware of increased police activity in the core areas. Police cruisers could be seen at regular intervals passing in front of the local banking establishments while other officers were in evidence walking along the main street.

A similar "high profile" police presence was maintained in communities in Muskoka.

Staff in all local bank branches were informed of the situation and extra precautions were in force in all locations.

According to the police spokesman, the information that a bank robbery may be attempted in the Muskoka - Haliburton area became known some time ago in Huntsville. The spokesman was unable to elaborate on how authorities became aware of the information or the identity of the supposed bank robbers.

In any event, if a group had been planning to hold up a local bank, the show of police force Monday must have been enough to put an end to any such undertaking. Tuesday, a police spokesman reported that nothing illegal had been attempted at any of the area banks.

Council awaits shore policy

While at least one township in Haliburton County has decided to go ahead with the closing and sale of shore allowance to abutting land owners, most municipalities are waiting for comments on the policy from the Ontario Ministry of Housing. The wait is making some Reeves impatient, but apparently that ministry guideline should be released shortly.

The matter of the sale of shoreline allowance was raised at the October 15 meeting of County Council. A number of letters from various provincial agencies were read reviewing policies which had already been made public and advising that the housing ministry comments would soon be forthcoming.

At least one letter, that from the Minister of Housing, Claude Bennett, amended an earlier letter he had sent to the council. Bennett pointed out in this latest letter that revenue obtained by municipalities from the sale of shore allowance would have to be used for the acquisition, development or improvement of park land. The minister pointed out that this restriction on the use of the funds was spelled out in the Ontario Municipal Act.

A previous letter from the minister had indicated that the funds were to be used, in the general account of the county, for road rights of way or park land.

Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt expressed concern that the province was taking so long to announce its policy with regard to the closing of shore allowances. He said that inquiries to his office are "piling up" and he felt the municipalities shouldn't have to keep passing the blame onto the Ministry of Housing for the lack of action. "We've got to get moving soon," Nesbitt commented.

Dysart Reeve Murray Feary stated the Ministry of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs is reviewing the portion of the Municipal Act with regard to shore allowances. He said they are attempting to simplify the process and suggested the members of the council should wait until the province has had an opportunity to explain its position. He said a statement is expected from the government in November.

Deputy Reeve of Lutterworth Township, Glynne Lewis told the meeting that his township is proceeding with applications received although it is being pointed out to the applicants that the final policy from the province has yet to be received.

Only three townships in Haliburton County will see races for the positions of reeve and deputy reeve in the coming municipal election. This fact was revealed after candidates for the November 10 vote filed their nomination papers in municipal offices around the county.

The races for reeve will be taking place in Anson, Hindon and Minden, Lutterworth, and Snowdon Townships. The Deputy Reeve's chair is to be contested in Snowdon, Glamorgan and Cardiff Townships.

In one municipality, Sherborne McClintock and Livingstone, there will be no election this year as all seats

Federal, provincial, county and municipal representatives shared the honours Tuesday as the ribbon was cut marking the official opening of the new senior citizens apartment complex in Minden. Ontario Treasurer Frank Miller, third from right, led the scissor brigade. Others helping with the opening of the 20 unit building included John Eakins MPP, Haliburton Warden Malcolm McGillivray, a representative of the tenants, Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt, Ontario Housing representative and Bill Scott, M.P.

Ratepayers' group formed -taxes will be first target

A Minden ratepayers association has been formed and appears ready to go to bat to prove that taxpayers in this municipality have been contributing to county coffers over and above the amount they should be paying.

The group was officially formed Thursday evening at a meeting held in the township offices. About 23 individuals were on hand for the meeting, down from the 36 who attended the first meeting several weeks ago.

The organizer of the group, J.O. Jackson, commented that as the meeting opened, that he was disappointed to see fewer people attending. The organizer speculated that one reason more individuals had not shown up was because they were not aware of the inequities that existed in the present tax system. "I hope we can get the message across to them," he said.

Jackson said, "People are willing to complain on the street corner, but many of them are not prepared to become involved. If this organization is to function, people must be keenly involved," Jackson told the audience.

According to Jackson, Minden taxpayers are being taxed at a rate equal to what residents of Lindsay, Peterborough and Oshawa are paying. He claimed that in some municipalities, assessment of property has lagged far behind that in other townships. He said this means those townships which have undergone reassessments recently are carrying a greater burden of the tax load.

Noting that a new system of assessment, referred to as "market value assessment" is expected to come into force in the next year, Jackson said if the reassessment is carried out properly it will mean a readjustment of taxes paid by all county residents.

The group's attack on taxes in Anson, Hindon and Minden Township is based on two areas of complaint. The first is that other townships in the county have not kept pace with the reassessment of property. "Assessment has not changed in some townships for 25 years," Jackson told the meeting.

Jackson said that the uneven assessment throughout the county was due to provincial assessors not carrying out their jobs correctly. He claimed, for example that some assessment in Lutterworth Township had not been updated since 1961.

Jackson told the meeting that for the group to become effective it must represent citizens from all parts of the on the local council have been filled by acclamation. It appeared for a while that there would be a contest for the reeve's chair as Marlene Shortreed had filed her papers in opposition to the incumbent Reeve Fred Baum. Shortreed however withdrew her nomination bid by 5 p.m. Tuesday leaving Baum to be acclaimed to the office.

There appeared to be a contest for councillor in Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone Monday evening as four names had been filed for the three available spots. However Dalton MacDonald had also filed papers for the position of Deputy Reeve. Since no other candidate had sought that office he withdrew from the council race leaving the three candidates to win by acclamation and he took the deputy's chair in the same manner.

Also in that municipality, no one has stepped forward to contest the seat on the Board of Education. According to the clerk of the municipality, nominations for that position have been extended until 5 p.m. today (October 22).

The only other council seat for which there will be no election occurred in Ward Three of Dysart et al. Sid Cooper stood unopposed at the close of nominations in that section of the township and was acclaimed to office.

Elections will be held in the other two wards in that township.

Elections will be held in only two municipalities to decide seats on the county Board of Education. In all other townships except Dysart et al and Monmouth the positions have been filled by acclamation.

The following is a county-wide round-up of who is in the running for the November 10 vote. The two northern municipalities of Victoria County have been included in this tally. In all townships one reeve and one deputy reeve are to be elected with three members to be chosen for council seats. The number of trustees to serve on the board of education is listed after that heading. Offices that have been filled by acclamation are in bold face type.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

the heart of getaway country

The Central Ontario Travel Association met last week at Sir Sam's Inn in an all day planning session which included the selection of a new executive from their newly elected Board of Directors.

Bill Smith, proprietor of Elephant Lake Lodge in Harcourt was elected as President for a one year term. Other members of the board this year include Bob Stinson and Barbara Bolin from Haliburton, Ross Wiegand, Manager of Kawartha Tourist Assoc., Stu McIntosh, Tourism instructor at Sir Sandford, Peter Elmhirst of Elmhirst Resort in Keene, Bud Tress director of Great Pine Ridge Tourist Assoc., Paul Boyd, reeve of Ameliasburg, Martha-Anne Rankin manager of Parkwood Estate in Oshawa, Mike McDonald of York Simcoe, Stephen Abrams promotional manager of Canada Wonderland, Bev Skidmore proprietor of County Book & Craft in Picton, John Sibbald president of the Briars on Lake Simcoe, Harvey Brydon, Highlands of Hastings, Ken Wilcox owner of Sword Motel in Bancroft, John Shannon, president of Greenwood Tower Flagg Inn in Port Hope, John West of Quinte Isle Tourist Assoc. and Don Williams president of Wondlyn Inn in Trenton.

The new president was pleased with the positive input at the first meeting of their new board and sees C.O.T.A. taking some new directions as a result. An indication of this was the decision to look at new ways to sell this travel region rather than the traditional "Lure Book" that listed areas and members and tended to duplicate the efforts of many of the existing organizations such as our own. A committee was struck to report back to the executive within a month with proposals on a newly structured promotional campaign.

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism is presently having a study completed on the whole Travel Association program and the consultants are inquiring from various individuals about their reaction to it. Based on past performance much of the response may be negative, but we must say that the new board has shown determination to turn this around. The Ministry is committed to the program and it is up to us to see that it works to our benefit.

Minister says "help on the way"

The Honourable Larry Grossman, Minister of Industry and Tourism, visited us last week and among other things told us that the Ministry is presently negotiating a Tourism D.R.E.E. agreement that will assist those involved in that sector regardless of where they were situated. He also announced that an Information Centre would open in the concourse of the Eaton Centre next month which should be of considerable assistance to all of us.

He was not as encouraging when asked by Sinc Nesbitt if funding assistance might be available to upgrade the Chamber's information centre. It was pointed out that our centre is one of the few non-government centres to continue operation on a year-round basis and that we distribute travel information of a provincial as well as a local nature. The building is becoming painfully inadequate and some means of providing better facilities will have to be found.

The Ministry is presently spending funds to refurbish their own centres and has asked the Travel Associations for suggestions on where new ministry centres should be established. Our office was one of the most heavily visited over the past summer, but would not fit the criteria of serving the balance of Central Ontario so we cannot expect any assistance from that direction.

New and progressing

In Minden, work is now underway on the new home of Highland Plumbing, who in turn operate the Homestead Plumbing Supply franchise here. They will be moving from their present location on Main Street to their new quarters next to Dollo's I.G.A. as soon as the new building is complete.

Speaking of building, we have a new building contractor in Minden now operating under the name of C.B. Construction, and it is owned and operated by Bob Heppleston and Chris Miles. They tell us they are off to a very busy start and indications are they will be kept quite busy.

Craig Box tells us he can't believe how busy he has been since opening the doors for business last month at Minden Custom Upholstery. Craig and his partner and brother Derrick grew up in the upholstery business, under the guidance of their father who operated a successful shop in East Toronto for many years. Their new shop is located across from the Brewers Retail and adjacent to Highlands Jewellery and China and they plan on carrying a full line of do-it-yourself materials in this location as well. Our best wishes for success go to all of these ambitious young people.

Grossman quizzed by county politicians

Ontario Minister of Industry and Tourism speaks to a gathering of Haliburton municipal politicians Friday evening at the Haliburton Legion. Economic Development Commission chairman Glen Hodgson and Victoria-Haliburton MP Bill Scott are seen at the right.

Ontario Minister of Industry and Tourism, Larry Grossman, visited Haliburton Friday afternoon. The minister had been invited to the county by the local Progressive Conservative Association and representatives of municipal governments in the county were invited to question the minister on various matters of concern.

The meeting was held at the Legion in Haliburton Village. Grossman opened the gathering by claiming that the Ontario economy was in "pretty good" shape despite all the publicity surrounding plant closing. He said the rate of unemployment compared favourably with states and provinces adjacent to Ontario.

The minister also lauded his ministry's promotion program, "Ontario, Yours to Discover". He said the program had helped to boost the province's tourism revenue and resulted in more residents staying within their province for vacations this year.

Grossman said, in response to a question from the secretary manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Bob Stinson, that he had discussed with education Minister Bette Stephenson, the possibility of moving the mid-winter school break to an earlier time of the year. Stinson had pointed out that the traditional March period for the break meant weather conditions in the county, and most of Ontario, were unsuitable for winter recreation. He suggested that if the date for the week-long holiday was moved ahead, perhaps to the end of February, more families might be enticed to spend that week in the province rather than heading off to the southern United States.

Grossman said there was more to it than just announcing a change in the date, but that he and the Education Minister had given the suggestion serious consideration.

In response to a question from Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey, Grossman stated that his ministry supports the request made by the county for funding under the D.R.E.E. program. "We thought it was about to be approved," he told the audience, "but in the end the federal government refused to give the nod." He said a special D.R.E.E. package for tourist development, which would apply to the entire province, is currently being negotiated with the federal authorities.

Information booth

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt of Minden asked if Grossman could provide the area with assistance in constructing a new information booth on Highway 35. The minister replied that the government has planned to construct a number of booths at various locations across the country. "However, since each structure represents a half million dollar investment, we must be very careful where they are located." He indicated it was unlikely one could be built here and said that while the ministry hasn't ruled out cost sharing, he did not feel it would become a policy of MIT. "We are looking for local tourist groups to set up their own," Grossman commented.

He also commented that his ministry is reviewing the present tourist association structure that divides the province into 12 regions. Haliburton is a member of the Central Ontario Travel Association (C.O.T.A.) There could be some changes in funding for these associations, he indicated.

The minister was also pressed as to why the Ontario government abandoned the licensing of trailer parks and tents in the province.

Grossman pointed out that the licensing authority, according to the provincial statutes, actually belonged with the municipalities. He said the provincial licence had been a duplication of the work of officers such as building inspectors, health departments and others.

The questioner stated that the provincial withdrawal from the licensing field had left a void in standards. It was also pointed out that some municipalities were given trailer park operators "a hard time". It was suggested that if the province did not want to issue a licence for the operation of the parks it could at least suggest standards by which municipalities could assess operations within their jurisdiction.

Grossman said his ministry has draft by-laws covering the operation of trailer parks. He said municipalities are invited to make use of these in setting standards for their operation.

The minister was also asked to comment on the difference between northern and southern Ontario and why Haliburton County cannot benefit from some of the programs now offered to the "north".

"It is a topic that comes up often in Cabinet discussions," Grossman admitted. He said there are points to support both sides of any argument however, he felt rather than attempting to categorize sections of the province, various programs should have a built in flexibility to respond to a need where it exists.

Lost opportunities

It is disappointing to see so many important municipal positions in Haliburton County being filled by acclamation. There will be no election campaign for six reeve and deputy reeve positions in various townships in Haliburton. Some of the positions being filled by this method are found in the largest and economically important areas of the county.

Likewise, virtually all the seats on the board of education have been filled without an election being held.

The candidates who have let their names stand for the offices they can now claim are to be congratulated for their sense of civic responsibility. Some, though relieved to not have to participate in an election campaign, must also feel uncertain as to whether they are indeed the people's choice, or whether the office comes to them only by default.

Certainly many who are acclaimed to office, and who believe in the democratic process, will be without the guidance and information that comes from participating in an election campaign. An election campaign not only allows voters to find out where a particular candidate stands on a certain issue, but also gives an opportunity for voters to express their concern to the candidates. This important forum for exchange of ideas is now lost.

We also note with dismay that in many municipalities all candidates meetings or similar gatherings have not been scheduled. In some communities it is difficult to meet all the candidates for a particular office and even if one is able to track down all of them, an open debate in one location with all candidates present offers a better opportunity for comparing positions on various issues.

In townships where offices are being filled by acclamation or where candidates meetings are not planned, the voters are the losers.

In those townships where the election process is still alive and well, the responsibility for selecting the best candidate now rests with the electors. This means actively searching out the opinion of those seeking office to determine who has the best qualifications to manage your municipality or the board of education for the next two years.

The rear wall of the playhouse at the adventure playhouse adjacent to the township office fell victim to vandals this past weekend. The structure was erected just this summer by students working under an employment grant. Municipal by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell said surveillance would be stepped up at the park in an effort to curtail damage to the recently installed equipment.

The Minister of Labour has announced a five point program to help workers laid off in plant shutdowns. However, this has been denounced as inadequate by the labour movement and by Opposition Leaders. The plan calls for the following:

(a) a change in pension laws to permit some measure of portability and make it possible for some laid-off workers to get pensions before age 65 (under present legislation a worker over 45 and with ten years service must wait until age 65 for a pension if laid off in a shutdown);

(b) a legislative committee study of the question of making payment of severance mandatory for employers;

(c) amendment of the Employment Standards Act to ensure that workers given pay in lieu of a mandatory notice period get fringe benefits (such as pensions) to the end of the notice period as well;

(d) companies to be forced to participate in and pay for a manpower adjustment committee to help ousted workers find new jobs; and

(e) a new government office to be created to probe the reasons for plant closings and to develop an interministerial response to help communities affected by the shutdown.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith strongly criticized the plan as being inadequate. The NDP Leader was also critical, but said he'd support it. The President of the Ontario

In last week's editorial concerning the installation of street lights along Highway 121 east of Minden, it was stated that Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council was not in favour of the resident's suggestion. The council does in fact endorse the resident's stand on this issue. We stand corrected.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The federal government has launched an eleven-million-dollar advertising campaign designed to convince Canadians that our country is not faced with an energy crisis, either now or in the foreseeable future.

This information was contained in a confidential document circulated by the government's Energy Communications Division, and leaked to one of the news wire services.

Although its real purpose was only revealed recently, the campaign has been under way since July, and it raises some serious questions about the government's honesty and propriety in dealing with a critical national problem.

In the first place, the government is using millions of dollars in public funds, without obtaining the approval of Parliament, to try to cover up its failure to formulate a comprehensive national energy policy.

There is clear evidence in the document that the government has set out to deliberately mislead and deceive the Canadian people by suggesting that Canada's 'energy crisis' was invented by the Opposition in the House of Commons, and by detractors in the media.

In the second place, there is evidence in the same document that there is in fact an energy crisis, and that the current Iraq-Iran war is likely to make the situation worse as the war drags on.

The government is lulling Canadians into believing that the shut-off of oil supplies from Iraq and Iran is being made up by increases in oil production by Saudi Arabia. The Saudi's announced that they have increased oil production by three million barrels per day to help make up for the shortage created by the Iran-Iraq war.

However, it would be a serious mistake to look upon this as the answer to the world energy crisis, or a substitute for a national energy policy.

While Saudi Arabia's oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani is the most moderate of all the Arab oil ministers, he is also the most astute, and he has already warned Canada, and other oil-importing nations, that our failure to develop a national energy policy could lead to disaster.

Sheikh Yamani said that he has no intention of depleting Saudi Arabia's oil supplies to satisfy our greed, and has threatened to cut production and raise prices to impress us with the seriousness of the situation.

And so we must look upon the present three-million-barrel per day increase in Saudi Arabia's oil production as a temporary measure, and

Council endorses restrictions on foreign ownership

A resolution calling on the provincial government to control the purchase of agricultural land by foreign interests has received the endorsement of the Haliburton County Council. The concurrence came at the October 15 meeting of the council.

The resolution, which is being circulated to all counties, regions and districts in the province, was started by the Township of Colborne, near Goderich.

The resolution suggests that foreign interests, "...some operating under the guise of Canadian Corporations, are investing heavily in Ontario agricultural land in many areas of the province." The resolution states that the competition from these outside interests is driving up the cost of Ontario agricultural land and making it more difficult for young farmers to get started. It also claims that these foreign owners are demolishing the farm buildings on the property they are purchasing to reduce their taxes. "These absentee owners are severely disrupting community life in these areas," the resolution states.

The Colborne Township council sought the support of the local county council in petitioning Agricultural Minister Lorne Henderson and Ontario Premier William Davis to take action in this regard.

The local council, through a general consensus, supported the resolution and agreed to inform the senior politicians of their stand.

Urgently required for Minden Minor Hockey, Tri-County group.

one that can be shut off at any time, without warning.

Canada presently imports about 25 per cent of its oil requirements, or 430,000 barrels per day. Most of this offshore oil has been imported from Iraq, and our projected requirements for offshore oil by 1985 is estimated to be 700,000 barrels per day.

While the government is trying to convince us that there is no energy crisis, Canadian oil drilling firms are flocking to the United States, where they receive more favourable treatment from the U.S. government, and the bulk of our known oil reserves are in inaccessible places such as the high Arctic and under the ocean off our east coast.

Meanwhile, the federal government is precipitating a constitutional crisis by threatening to gouge exorbitant new taxes from existing producers of oil and gas in our western provinces.

Only five years ago, in 195, Canada was a net exporter of oil. If new sources of oil are not found in Canada and in the immediate future our Atlantic provinces will be importing 100 per cent of their oil needs by 1985, and even Ontario will become dependent on offshore oil for a large part of its energy requirements.

These are some of the reasons why my party wanted the government to set aside its constitutional proposals for the moment and deal with the more immediate energy and economic problems that threaten our very existence.

WAYS TO SAVE ENERGY UNDER YOUR ROOF

A lot of people in Ontario are saving energy right now. Join your neighbours and save some yourself.

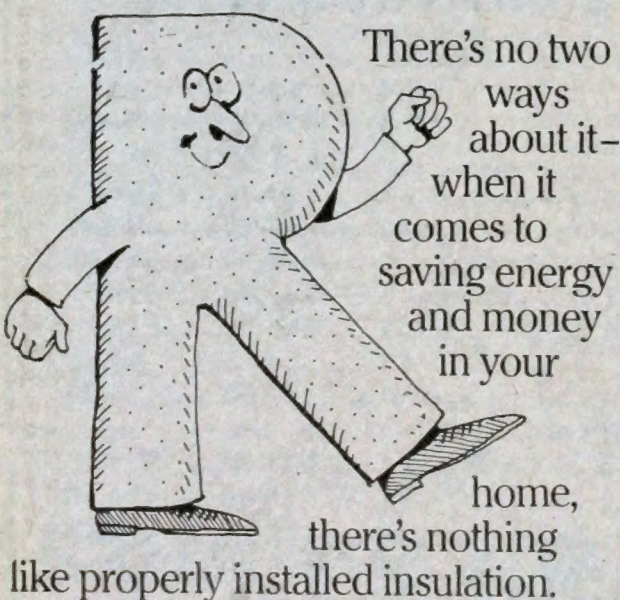

DRAFT DEFENSE

A 1/4 inch crack along the bottom of a door can leak as much warmth as a hole in your wall the size of a baseball!

Caulking and weather-stripping to plug heat leaks are the best defenses going—because these measures save your valuable energy (and money) from heating the great Canadian outdoors. You can find out more in "Draft Defense", one of a series of brochures we've published to help you save energy.

While you're checking out those gaps in your draft defense, you might want to take a close look at how your home's insulation measures up for winter.

THE 'R' FACTOR IN KEEPING THE HEAT IN

Check out the "R" factor of your home's present insulation, and proceed from there. You may even qualify for a CHIP grant that will help you carry the cost of insulating.

As you size up your home's insulation, don't forget to look at your furnace with an eye to making it more frugal with energy.

THE FRUGAL FURNACE

Regular maintenance and some very simple steps are all you need to make your furnace more energy efficient. Have your furnace checked and serviced once a year. Set the thermostat back a few degrees. Check your air filter once a month and replace as needed. Make sure heat registers aren't blocked by drapes or furniture—use deflectors when registers are under drapes. If you use electric heat, vacuum your baseboard heaters regularly.

There are a lot more helpful furnace tips you can find out about. But now, there are just a few words to be said about keeping yourself in hot water.

KEEPING THE HOT IN YOUR HOT WATER

That steady "drip-drip" from a hot water tap is more than annoying. One drip per second can send 175 gallons of your hot water a year down the drain.

Fixing that dripping tap is usually simple. There are lots of ways you can cut back on energy waste with your hot water supply—insulate the tank and the first few feet of the hot water outlet pipe. Use your dishwasher only when full. And there are many more ways to save!

Find out about ways to save energy under your roof by sending the coupon below. You'll receive handy, informative brochures that will give you the lowdown on higher energy savings. Follow their advice and you'll be doing your part to make sure that Ontario's energy future keeps on looking good.

And remember—winter's coming!

Life is good, Ontario.
Preserve it. Conserve it.

300 attend Warden's banquet

Over 300 people gathered at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre in Wilberforce Saturday evening to pay tribute to the county's retiring Warden, Cardiff Reeve Malcolm McGillivray.

The annual event, hosted by the Warden and his wife Lillian, attracted reeves and deputy reeves from throughout the county, wardens from the counties of Hastings, Victoria and Peterborough, John Eakins, MPP, and Bill Scott, MP.

Also on hand for the dinner and dance were many friends and relatives of the Warden.

The speakers offered their congratulations to the Warden for his service to the county during the year. It was noted that this is the second time that McGillivray had served as Warden of the county.

The Warden briefly reviewed some of the highlights of the year, noting that tourism had grown during the past year. He thanked his fellow members of council for their co-operation and commented that despite differing opinions expressed during the meetings, lasting friendships have developed between the members of county council.

The audience then enjoyed the movie, "Heavy Horse Pull" filmed a number of years ago in Haliburton County. The movie features Warden McGillivray as a trainer and contestant in horse draw contests. The film showed McGillivray working his horses on the farm and in competition at the Lindsay Fall Fair.

Prior to the screening of the film, a copy of the movie was presented to the Warden by Marilyn Stouffer of the county library board.

The talented members of the Lehay family entertained the audience with singing, tap dancing and a number of musical selections following the film. Those in attendance then enjoyed an evening of dancing.

Warden Malcolm McGillivray addresses the audience during the Warden's banquet held Saturday evening in Wilberforce.

County could get CAS social worker

The Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society is considering the placement of a full-time resident social worker in Haliburton County. That fact was brought to light in a report to the October 15 meeting of county council by Bicroft Improvement District Chairman Meredith Amm. He is the council's representative on the CAS.

According to Amm the executive of the society has determined that the organization is understaffed. He said by having a social worker available in the county at all times, the area would be better served. At the moment, individuals requiring emergency services from the CAS must contact Lindsay. "This area has been left out in the cold," Amm commented.

He told the council the recommendation for a permanent local worker will be taken to the general meeting for consideration before any final action can be approved.

Amm also reported that the CAS is currently facing a lawsuit launched by its former director, Mr. G. Dove. Amm said that since the suit is still before the courts he would not comment on it.

Dove was recently dismissed from the position as director of the society and his lawsuit stems from this action.

The meeting was told that an investigation of the CAS operation is still being studied and is confidential. He said there was no truth in the reports contained in a Peterborough newspaper, that the probe was being "hushed up". He said the report had been initiated by the local society and claimed the dismissal of Dove was not necessarily precipitated by the information contained in the report.

In response to questions from a member of council, Amm noted that employees of the society are no longer permitted to borrow society funds to finance their purchase of an automobile. This situation was revealed over a year ago and led to an uproar among area politicians. He also reported that all cheques issued by the society now require two signatures to be valid. In the past the bank handling the CAS account in Peterborough had accepted the cheques with only a single signature. "We have told the bank we were not impressed with them accepting cheques with only one signature," Amm told the councillors. "I think we have the situation corrected now."

Federation of Labour stated that the plan "hasn't responded seriously to the main questions we've been raising...We're not just talking about people on the verge of early retirement. When a company goes belly-up, every worker should be able to take his pension credits with him to the next job".

Government advertising

Members of my caucus, concerned about a perceived dramatic increase in advertising for pre-election purposes, have tabled questions to 25 ministers about how much is being spent on the ads, some of which they consider to be misleading and partisan, while others contain subliminal messages.

We want to know the total advertising budgets this year and last, and which agencies are employed. Copies of radio and TV scripts and printed materials used in various publicity campaigns are also requested. The decision to make a concerted effort to get complete information, on advertising, thought to total about $25 million this year, was made at a recent caucus meeting.

township, be willing to "dig up the facts" and present them to the local council, county council, the assessment office and the provincial government. He suggested that if the group became strong enough it could field its own candidates for municipal office to ensure that the message was being heard, at least at the local level.

The second point is that, according to Jackson, the division of responsibility for county needs, (funds collected by the townships but turned over to county-wide agencies

He also suggested that in making the appeals, residents use comparisons from other townships in the county to point up the inequities.

"Perhaps we will get the assessment commission to take note of the point we are trying to get across if we cited comparisons from outside this township," Jackson stated. He said that the board does not normally accept such comparisons for tax appeal purposes but felt the method would help to bring the inequities to the province's attention.

He said the ratepayers' such as the board of education and the county) is not done equitably.

The organizer stressed that the focus of the group should be toward an equitable tax system across the county. "We are not trying to hurt anyone," he commented, "just attempting to ensure that everyone in the county is treated fairly."

Jackson suggested that everyone should appeal their taxes to the assessment review board. He said this would bring attention to the fact that residents of this township feel the present system is unfair.

Snow job suggestion rejected

A suggestion that the county look into sharing snow ploughing costs and operation with the Ministry of Transportation and Communications has been rejected by members of the council. The suggestion was made by Stanhope Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer at the October 15 meeting of county council.

Stouffer pointed out that township, county and private ploughs travel over Highway 35 to reach their destination. "Right now, when they travel over the highway, they have their ploughs up," he commented. "Why couldn't they put their blades down and clear the snow from the highway?" he asked.

The deputy reeve described the situation as an "obvious inefficiency."

County Engineer Bill Obee told the meeting that while some townships "trade" snow ploughing duties with the county, he foresaw greater inefficiencies if that number of agencies had a hand in keeping the snow off the main highways. Obee pointed out the MTC maintains Highway 35 at a different standard than the county or townships require for their roads. He also noted Highway 35 snow ploughing is carried out on a 24 hour a day, as needed, basis. "We have eliminated the night shift from the roads department and it would be expensive to bring it back," he said.

Obee also suggested that deciding which road should receive priority following a major snow storm could result in problems.

The members of the council agreed with this assessment of the situation and the suggestion from Stouffer failed to receive any further support from the councillors.

group should be willing to assist anyone wishing to prepare and present an appeal.

Before the meeting closed the Minden Ratepayers' Association was formally created. J.O. Jackson agreed to serve as the organization's president. Assisting him will be vice president Morgan Loucks, secretary-treasurer Bernie Davis and directors Archie Thompson, Cy Heal and Percy Drysdale.

A membership fee of $1 was agreed to in an effort to help cover the costs of operating the group.

Lawyer worth the charge says council

Members of Haliburton County Council seem generally satisfied with the job done by the lawyer representing their interests at the hearing of the Canadian Transport Commission into the closing of the Lindsay to Haliburton CNR rail line. The legal council retained by the county, Dave Bishop, also represented a number of other municipalities in the county.

The comments were made at the October 15 meeting of county council when it was pointed out that the county's portion of the lawyer's fee would be just over $4000. The county council was told that the fee will be paid in the 1981 budget allotments.

One member of council, Stanhope Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer, suggested the council should take a close look at the bill from the lawyer. He indicated that he felt the amount was too high.

However, other members of the council supported the efforts of the lawyer retained by the county. Reeve Murray Feary said that Stouffer had not been in attendance at the rail hearings so he could not fully appreciate the job Bishop had done for the county. He said that if the bill seemed high, it was because of the extra hours involved in the actual hearing.

My name is Leroy Lichty and I am seeking your support in my campaign for the position of township councillor in Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships.

I have two daughters, aged 20 and 15, a son 19 years of age. I was born in Woodstock, Ontario, where I was raised on a farm until I turned 18.

I worked in a steel mill for a number of years and was employed in an auto body repair shop when, in 1958 I joined the Ralston Purina Company in Whitby as a night mill operator.

In 1964 I joined General Motors in Oshawa and was employed there for 13 years following which my wife and I purchased the Brown Owl Restaurant and Gas Bar on the Minden by-pass.

I am concerned about the future of our township and request your support in the upcoming municipal election. Vote Lichty for township councillor in Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Use of tax data challenged by county council

The Haliburton County Council has questioned the use of tax information and sale prices for real estate by the Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers group. The challenge was raised at the October 15 meeting of the council.

Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey told the meeting that J.O. Jackson, who has been instrumental in the formation of the group, has compiled figures which identify certain properties and their taxation in various municipalities in the county. The reeve admitted that the information is public, and is available to anyone through the Registry Office in Minden, but he questioned the use of the figures in such a way as to identify the owner of the property.

Fearrey said he wanted to know if Jackson had permission from the land owners in question to have the figures made public for the purpose he has intended. He suggested that Jackson should also seek the approval of the Haliburton County Real Estate Board before using amounts in such a manner. "I don't feel the information should be used for this purpose," Fearrey told the councillors.

The Dysart reeve said in some cases the prices for various pieces of property represented asking prices, and that these did not accurately reflect the value of the property in question.

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone Reeve Fred Baum, a licenced real estate salesman, told the meeting the use of the information was improper. "This sort of information should not be made public," Baum told the meeting.

Jackson and the ratepayers' group which was formed Thursday evening, plan to use the information they have gathered to demonstrate that Anson, Hindon and Minden taxpayers are contributing a greater proportion of their taxes to county purposes than residents in other townships.

In an interview following the county council meeting Jackson told The Times that the information he had gathered was all available through the Registry Office in Minden. "It is public information which everyone has access to," he commented.

Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison commented that the selling price of a property can give a false impression of the value of the property, particularly where a cottage is involved. "The selling price of a cottage can often include items such as boats, motors and other objects that are not part of the buildings and land," Harrison pointed out.

The efforts of the ratepayers group received the support of one member of county council. Stanhope Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer said he was surprised that Fearrey had brought the subject up. He said Dysart real estate should sell better when the ratio of property values of taxes paid are known.

Minden Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt informed the council that the township had nothing to do with the organization. "We are not involved in the group," he commented. He also objected to the use of the word "ratepayers" to describe the group. "These people do not represent everyone in Anson, Hindon and Minden," Nesbitt said, "they are not an elected or appointed body. They are only representing themselves."

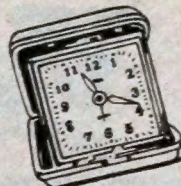

Nesbitt also noted that new assessment would soon be introduced, probably next year. He indicated however that this new assessment may have a detrimental affect on the distribution of grants from the provincial government. He also suggested that the entire county could be thrown into "a mess" in an effort by some to "save a nickel" locally.

The county council agreed to investigate whether the owners of the property being used as examples by the group had given permission for the use of that information and if the Haliburton County Real Estate Board had agreed with the use of these figures in this manner. The county will also contact the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial relations to determine if information which should be confidential is being used improperly.

Earlier this week the president of the Haliburton County Real Estate Board, Bill Roodenburg stated that the information which the group appears to be using is public and available to all who wish to find it in the Registry Office. He did suggest however that he felt it was improper, not necessarily illegal, to use the information without the owner's concurrence. Roodenburg suggested the group should either obtain the permission of the property owners' whose property they wish to use as examples or not identify the owners of the property.

Do your homework before you do any work on your home.

Before you start on any home repairs or renovations, you should do some careful thinking. Decide exactly what you want done. Draw up an overall plan. And do a little digging around to find out all you can about potential contractors for your job.

A few precautions will eliminate some common problems:

- ✓ Don't be talked into having work done just because the rest of the neighbourhood is doing it or because the price is presented as bargain basement.
- ✓ If the project is a major one, seek professional advice (i.e. architects or engineers) before the work is started.
- ✓ Ask for estimates from at least three reliable firms.
- ✓ When you decide to sign a contract, find out first who does the actual work.
- ✓ Insist that all details be written into the estimate - the type and amount of work to be done, total cost, date of completion and any extras.
- ✓ If a large amount of money is involved, have a lawyer go over the contract before you sign it. Don't give more than 10 percent as a down payment.
- ✓ Never sign a completion certificate until the work has been done to your satisfaction.
- ✓ Hold back 15 percent of the final payment for 37 days after the work is completed. That way, if the contractor or subcontractor does not pay for materials, you are protected from liability under The Mechanics Lien Act.

Unfortunately, despite the most carefully laid plans, you may find yourself the victim of unethical business practices.

Your Provincial Government wants you to know what your rights are under the Consumer Protection and Business Practices Acts.

✓ The Consumer Protection Act allows you to cancel any contract signed in your home (where delivery, payment and performance of work remain to be completed) by sending a registered letter to the company within 48 hours - or two full working days - of signing.

✓ The Business Practices Act allows you to have the transaction cancelled by sending a registered letter to the company if you have been misled by false or deceptive consumer representations.

The monthly meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the United Church Hall on Wednesday, October 15 with Mrs. Clare Brown presiding. After the usual opening, Mrs. Mary Packard, from Haliburton County Public Library showed films; the first was Colonel By's Town, which was Ottawa with narration by Charlotte Whitton and the second was of scenery in New Zealand. She was thanked by Jeanne Sears and presented with a gift and we all showed our appreciation in the usual way.

The Roll Call was answered by 20 members and 3 guests, and verses were ready by Mary Cox, 'Second Mile', Rheta Brown, 'October', Bea Berry, 'A Friend', and Maud Coulter, 'A Clipper.'

The reports were given by secretary, Freda Hulbig, and treasurer, Annie Kernohan, and correspondence was read. Card Convenor Mrs. Irene Moore reported sending 42 cards since the last meeting. Mention was made of the District Tea and Bazaar at Fenelon Falls, Wednesday, October 22 and ladies offered lunch, bake sale items, or crafts and cars were arranged for those wishing to go. The members were asked to serve Tea at Hyland Crest Home on November 6 and plans were made for this. The quilt top made and donated by Lily Hogg will be planned for after Christmas holiday.

A resolution was read by Annie Kernohan, our delegate, and voted upon so she may take our wishes to Area Convention in Toronto early in November.

The next meeting will be at the Parish Hall at 2 on November 19th with convenor Yvonne Beaucage bringing a speaker, and all ladies are welcome. The meeting closed with God Save the Queen and W.I. Grace and everyone enjoyed a social half hour and the lunch served by the committee.

We are always hearing on radio and T.V. "save on energy", but we are amazed to note how many times outside lights are left on all night. They say, "If everyone saves a bit, we all gain". Do you check those lights before retiring, we also note a saving on our own hydro bill.

Sincere sympathy goes to Mrs. S. Weiss on the death of her father last week and to the Bob Gorries on the death of his mother.

Do you think this is true? When there is a marital argument, the husband now goes to his Club; the primitive man just reached for it.

Guest last week with Mrs. Basil Hewitt was a chum, Gladys Schiefke, of B.C. whom Mabel has not seen since they were in the Air Force together.

Dennis Stribling, son of Beulah and Peter Stribling, left on October 17 for C.F.B. Cornwallis and we hope he likes the services. He hopes to be home for a visit in the Christmas Holiday season.

Time sorts people out. Whatever they pretend, And just the same they've earned It gives them in the end.

A draw was made for an airtight Lakewood Stove on Wednesday, October 15. Proceeds from the draw go toward the new curling club. The winner was Grenville Stamp of West Guilford; thanks to all who bought tickets. Their other draw on the gas barbeque and tank is postponed until spring.

We hear that Anne Rockory is now doing the errands as John Rockory is away on a trip to the East.

The village sends good wishes to these people who are in hospital or have now come home, these are Lorna Hogg, Verla Wilson, Eleanor Walker, Mrs. W. Casey and Doug McKelvey.

Anyone interested in receiving Meals-On-Wheels or helping to deliver these, please call Jane Graham at 286-2024.

Wedding bells were ringing on the weekend with congratulations going to Mr. and Mrs. K.D. Bull (nee Carolyn Anne Davis).

At the weekly Mini Card Party last Thursday afternoon at St. Paul's Parish Hall, winners were for cribbage Lilian Davidson and Vera Ward and for euchre, high and lone hands Harry Cowen and Della Griffin.

Here are some of the winners of toques from Wintario tickets. Helen Allore from Stedman's, A.J. Hewitt from Brown Owl, Len Lonsberry from Drug Store, Harris Steele from Mae's and Jeanne Sears from Mike's Milk.

Weekend guest with Mrs. Basil Hewitt was her daughter Coleen Bonspeel from Mississauga.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Hughes and girls of Mississauga spent the weekend with the Bob Hughes.

There will be some homes in the village with the menfolk absent as this is Moose Hunting week in this area. Wonder if another one will wander through the village this year.

Don't forget you gain an hour's sleep this Sunday, as the clocks "fall" back to Standard Time again.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox and Vera Cowen visited the Basil Cox family at Bancroft one Sunday recently.

Weekend guests with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Angus Coulter was Gerald Coulter of Toronto. We hear that these people heard from the Garnet Coulters of B.C. and they had just returned from a hunting trip and had bagged a moose and an elk.

The community sends good wishes to Vera Cowen who celebrates her 83rd birthday this Wednesday.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Well we got more rain this week, but we did manage to get a few sunny periods in to brighten things up.

Tom Stead, Jr., from Pickering and Allan Jones from Florida, stopped in to see Annie and Frank Dunsford on their way up to Dorset.

Jeanne Cruickshank along with her sister, Joanne Oatman and her two children, Josh and Crystal, all from Shelburne, came up for a visit on Saturday.

A good time was had by all who attended the dance on Saturday night at the arena given by the McKnights.

Good to see Ern and Arnie Wright out to the dance after Ern being out of the hospital for a few days.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Bedlington is in hospital. Her daughter and son-in-law, Major and Mrs. Glynne Lewis went down on the weekend to see her.

Hint of the Week

Eggs-Pert-Ease - Yolklure - Keep yolks centered in eggs by stirring the water while cooking hard-boiled eggs. (Especially good for devilled eggs.)

Truth is the highest thing that a man can keep.

Kids Korner

Kids as you know Hal-lowe'en is coming soon so here are some ideas for costumes: Mask - The best kind of mask is no mask at all. Paint your face instead. Ask your mother if you can use some of her things. Lipstick, an eyebrow pencil, cold cream, and tissues make great monster make-up. Put a lot of cold cream on a tissue. Shake a few drops of food colouring onto the cold cream. Rub it on your face. Now add funny eyebrows, a moustache, or weird whiskers with eyebrow pencil. Don't worry. Everything will wash off later. For a horrible hold-up mask, bend a coat hanger into a circle and pull a nylon stocking over it. Paint a fearful face on it. Be sure not to scare yourself if you go past a mirror.

Now that you have a new face it is time to dress up in a costume. There are many ways to make disguises. Borrow some old clothes from Mom or Dad. Now pin them up so they'll fit. Or...you can get a cardboard carton and cut holes for your head and arms. Paint it or cover it with tinfoil and cut-outs to make it look really different. Tails: make a funny tail by stuffing a nylon with newspaper balls and pinning it to your costume. Hats are great fun too! You can glue coloured paper, feathers or paper ears to old hats that your parents don't want. Or...make your own hats out of rolled paper bags or thin cardboard. To make weird braids plait old nylons together and pin them to your hat.

Why did Danny Demon wear a purple and green belt?

To keep his pants up.

Why did Dim-Wit Demon keep running around his bed?

He wanted to catch up on his sleep.

Why did Dim-Wit Demon sew labels marked "cotton" on his woollen clothes?

He wanted to fool the moths.

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

Last week the weather was beautiful and many residents took advantage of it by going out on Tuesday and Friday afternoon on the bus. At this time of the year, the countryside is a sight to behold with the changing colour. Tuesday morning we enjoyed an inspiring message from Jimmy Cooper at the Chapel service. Later in the evening, it was a pleasure to welcome Earle Cooper and Kathleen Owens to play some toe-tapping music for us. Thursday afternoon the ladies of Boshkung brought a lovely variety of breads and muffins for the tea party.

This week, we had our regular activities beginning with fun and fitness on Monday morning. In the afternoon, the ladies went to the craft room to work on their projects in preparation for the Christmas Bazaar on November 19. I'd like to welcome Mrs. May Powell of Ingoldsby to our group of craft volunteers.

Tuesday morning, Mr. Bob MacBrien held service in the Chapel. We certainly enjoyed his meaningful words. After lunch it was movie time in the auditorium. "The Chautaugua Experience" was filmed in South Western New York State. It is a place where families can get involved in a great many activities such as poetry, art, philosophy, physical exercise and music. It is a new world where you feel like you are in paradise.

"An Afternoon in August" was sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion. We saw the air cadets in training, and enjoyed the visit to the Little Britches Rodeo.

Tuesday evening was music night. Bill Payne and Eldon Deacon entertained us with some of the old favorites, and we had a few laughs too.

Wednesday night, we were pleased to welcome the students from Haliburton High School for Games Night. Several residents enjoyed the evening playing euchre, cribbage, checkers, poker and crokinole.

Thursday afternoon, the L.O.B.A. from Haliburton brought us a nice variety of sandwiches and cookies for the Tea Party. Thanks girls for a lovely time.

The week ended on a happy note with Grace Coburn leading the sing song. Mr. Fred Ballard accompanied us on the organ and played a medley of songs for our listening pleasure.

The Canada Safety Council has some advice for children, parents and motorists as Halloween approaches. Children should:

1. Wear light coloured, flame resistant costumes with retroreflective strippings so that they are easier seen by motorists.

2. Clothing must be short enough to avoid a tripping hazard.

3. Face masks must not obstruct vision. Make-up is preferable.

4. Calls should be made along one side of the street and then along the other: No criss-crossing. Children should cross the street at intersections or crosswalks.

5. Let them carry a flashlight to see better and to be better seen.

They should travel in groups of four or five. Young children should be accompanied by an adult.

Set a curfew and boundaries within familiar neighbourhoods.

8. Forbid them firmly to enter the house or apartment of a stranger.

9. Children must not eat any gifts until they can be inspected by an adult at home.

10. Drivers should be particularly careful on Halloween night as a little goblin might dart out of the darkness unexpectedly.

Let's all make this Halloween safe in every province!

Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in Minden was the setting in early September of the marriage of Patricia Arsenault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Arsenault, R.R. 2 Minden, to Thomas Adamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Adamson of Kingston, Ontario. The service was officiated by the bride's uncle, Father Paul Arsenault of Our Lady of the Cape Shrine at Cap-de-la-Madeleine, Quebec. The bride wore a white satin dress with a redingote of chantilly lace and a full veil trimmed in chantilly lace also. Her flowers were of pink tiger-lilies, burgundy roses and white lily-of-the-valley. She was attended by Maid of Honor, Miss Pam Morrison of Whitby, Ontario. Bridesmaids were Marilyn Arsenault, sister of the bride, Debra Adamson, sister of the groom, Donna McKay and Carmel Tohill. Junior flower girl was Catherine Arsenault, niece of the bride. They carried flowers of pink tiger-lilies. Their gowns were of pink with pink and burgundy cover-ups. The groom was in a white tuxedo with burgundy vest and accessories. The best man was Mr. Keith Friendship of Pembroke, Ontario. Ushers were Paul Arsenault, brother of the bride, Robert Bonutti, Darrell McKay and Mike Plante. During the moving service by Father Paul, the vows, written by the bride and groom, for the double ring ceremony, were solemnized. The reception was held at the Stanhope Firehall for many out of town guests including people from Quebec, Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa, Whitby, Toronto, Barrie and California. The couple left for their honeymoon in Quebec, New Brunswick, and northern U.S. They are presently residing in Kingston, Ontario.

Change in library regions challenged by county council

An attempt by the provincial government to eliminate the Great Lakes library region and amalgamate it with adjoining regions is being protested by Haliburton County Council. The council voiced its support for the present regional divisions at the October 15 meeting.

The Great Lakes Region, of which the Haliburton County library system is a part, is one of two regions in the province which are being eliminated. The Georgian Bay Region is the other area in the province that could disappear if the province has its way.

In a report to the council, county librarian Stan McDougall pointed out that the Lake Ontario Region has, "...been fair to the Haliburton Library...without its efforts and financial support, it is doubtful there could be a library in the county at this time." He said there appeared to be no real reason for a change other than a desire on someone's part simply to reduce the number of regions in the province. There are currently 14 library regions.

McDougall pointed out that amalgamation with another region would mean that the headquarters for the area serving Haliburton would be more distant. At the moment the central office for the Great Lakes Region is in Kingston. McDougall suggested that Ottawa or Brampton could become the new headquarters for the region serving this county if the present system was eliminated. He also noted that the present system has served the county well and that a "special relationship" has developed among the other counties in the area. "This relationship would disappear under the proposed change," the librarian predicted.

In considering the matter, county council endorsed a resolution submitted by the County of Bruce seeking the retention of the 14 regions.

That resolution noted that a great deal of effort had gone into creating the present system for Ontario libraries and any change would not provide improved service. It also suggested that funding, based on a 60¢ per capita basis and $4 per square mile, should be continued and increased to allow the libraries to provide improved service.

Weaving show attracts favourable comments

Wednesday and Thursday evenings last week were the times to attend the Rail's End Gallery to view a fantastic collection of "Wearable Weaving".

Most of the articles were woven by members of the weavers and spinners group of the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts and were also modelled by the weavers and their families.

The clothing was stunning to say the least and the items shown were many and varied ranging from ponchos to evening wear. All of the models displayed their creations to advantage and the commentary by Marie Wallace was excellent, pointing out the different features and informing the audience as to weaver, type of weave, material used, etc.

A few items were "imported" to Haliburton County for the occasion, but as far as this writer could see, the local weavers could hold their own anywhere.

Donna VanderWekken had many items on display. She and her family modelled her creations and one outfit which caught the eye was a magnificent red suede and woven suit, made by Donna but unfortunately, not for sale.

Judy Chapman is another local weaver whose work is superb - she showed many of her creations and is indeed a credit to the Guild. One of the newer members of the Guild is Vicki Cross of Minden who had a few articles on display, some modelled by her daughter Laura. One particular favourite was a vest woven by Vicki from the hair of their dog "Chips". The hair was spun by Donna VanderWekken and the finished article was extremely soft and one imagines, very warm.

The setting in the gallery was most effective. Wooden hangers had been made by Taylor Wilkins and faces painted on each of the hangers by Carole Finn. After each item was displayed, it was placed on its hanger "model" and after the fashion show, the audience could examine each article and read the information card attached.

The Guild members are to be congratulated, the weavers, models, and the backstage workers. Everything seemed to go like clockwork and to the audience, it was a most enjoyable, informative and entertaining evening.

The Wearable Weaving show, without the live models, continues at the gallery until the end of this month. During that time all the garments will be on display at the gallery and those who wishing to try them on may do so. Organizer

Donna VanderWekken pointed out that some items were marked as being not for sale. "The public is still welcome to try on the garments and, if they like them, they could contact the person who made the piece."

The organizer said she was very pleased with the show. She noted that close to 80 people were on hand for the two fashion presentations. "We hope the show has helped to spark some interest in weaving and that more people will become involved," she commented.

IN MEMORIAM

BUNKER, Olive Audrey - October 28, 1980 - In remembrance of our special Mother and Grandmother who passed away two years ago today.

A Mother who gave us the best years of her life
Who cherished our secrets, our sorrow, our strife
Who taught us to love, who taught us to pray
Dear Mother in Heaven, God bless you today
Your life was unselfish, for others you lived
Not for what you received but for what you could give
Just a loving thought, just a silent tear
A beautiful memory of our Mother so dear.

Sadly missed by sons and daughters, Faye, Jack, Caroline, Joyce, Harry, Joanne and their families.
